Meyrovitz will be moved in soon there.

The Quaker Quartette

I once heard Dr. Davidson President of the Florida Chautauque one is invited to this platform who has not something to say and can say that something well.
He was then president of the chautauque at De Funiak Springs.

I was reminded of this remark as soon as the leader of the Quaker Quartet appeared on the platform last evening at the Flat theatre. I knew that we were going to have an opportunity to not only hear a quartet sing but to listen to men who could sing well and truly it was a feast for the lovers of good music. The ever beautiful and grand old song "No Miriam" was rendered with voices whose harmony would have appealed to the most critical. It was decidedly the best number in a program replete with rich and varied selections.

And not only did we have a treat in good music. Mr. Baker had something to say and proved conclusively that he could say "that something well." Did you ever go to a concert and hear a sermon? That is what we received last night thrown in as a side line. But oh how full of truth was every utterance that fell from the lips of this gifted man. If we remembered nothing else but that "we should give up displeasure, when and where it is due" and practice this principle through life, we will make our little part of the world brighter and happier.

AND ITEMS OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

WHY THEY WERE POOR

From Birmingham News

Several gentlemen were recently discussing the reason for the poverty in the South after the war. It has been assumed by many and is undoubtedly the predominant factor whether the South be old or new. It has been pointed out in 1866 and 1867 that the South was poorer than it is now.

A northern man who has been studying the problem says that the reason is not the war, but the fact that the South was poorer than it is now. He says that the reason is not the war, but the fact that the South was poorer than it is now. He says that the reason is not the war, but the fact that the South was poorer than it is now.

The Federal has in mind that the trouble lies in the mind and not in the material. It is a sad remedy. It is a sad remedy. It is a sad remedy. It is a sad remedy.

There was no reason why a country should be poor with abundant cheap labor and more than 100,000,000 acres of land.

nts for cotton. That was the price in 1873. It cost less to make than the 10-cent cotton of today.

At 16 cents to day the farmers would be lighted. Yet after the war it took eight years for cotton to come down to that price. Really the farmers should have been rich if they got steadily poorer when cotton was well above 16 cents and labor cheaper than now and land no higher.

There is no way to settle such a debt but it is certain that the South was poorer when cotton was higher. That is a real fact. The price now is satisfactory and the farmers are happy but cotton will not be a long time going to 16 cents and that was a low price in 1873.

Wednesday, March 17, 1909.

The candidates for governor are merely getting in the papers enough to keep the people knowing who's who in Alabama politics.

It once was, "Watch Madrid Grow." Now if you watch much, you are seeing it burn. They ought to have a good place down there now to build a town.

Everybody should remember that they may have something about the house which they can add to the list of improvements to help the looks of the place.

President Taft has sent to the Senate, the name of E. W. Duran, an collector of customs at Charleston, S. C., to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of the negro, Crum, who held the place through Roosevelt's recess appointment, never having been confirmed by the Senate.

The dog woods are in bloom indicating that corn planting will soon be over in Alabama, and then the Opelika News will have to do something else. It has put up a good fight for more corn, and better corn, and it Lee county doesn't raise enough corn for us all, we will have some tears about the advertising virtues of the News. We want an official report from the News editors, about October 15th.

The Birmingham News is of age, and it got out a special anniversary edition yesterday telling all about it, and, incidentally it told of a good many other things that are of interest to its readers. In the life of newspapers it is something out of the ordinary to see a paper published for twenty years, under the same management, under the same name, but few of them do it. This is an indication that the paper has been well managed and is a paying proposition, if it means anything.

Pandemonium is a very fine word, a word that we have looked upon with much favor, and now we expect to adopt it and bring it into general use. We would have corralled it sooner, but were unable to ever see where it was used except where "pandemonium reigned," or "pandemonium broke loose." We would judge by this that the word is reversible and does either at its pleasure. Some times it feels like reigning and then again, it feels like breaking loose and going wild; and a word that can be put to so many uses, will finally be employed to "reign," when pandemonium "breaks loose," and that will quell it.

The river around Dothan has never given the citizens any annoyance. It has never overflowed. It has never claimed dozens of little boys who lost their lives in swimming each year, and the citizens have never asked for an appropriation to have it dredged. We have no river, nothing but a little creek, which starts right here in town, in the middle of a pitcher's opera house, and bubbles around over into the woods between here and us into the Chattahoochee river. Then we have another, off about ten miles, which may have a purpose later on, that of furnishing power for Dothan. The waterways in and about Dothan are mostly hand-made, and show it.

HOW WE ARE AMUSED.

What we people like here in the way of amusements is about the same as that liked by other parts of similar size and training. We don't all go down at night to be amused by the same attractions. Some of us are heavy on the spiritual production and some are disgusted unless we see others are not on the management and the company, only we go blackface comedy with some music. Some of us want to see the bell ringers ring when the curtain goes up and hear the soft strains from a bag pipe then and then has been amused and on a cultured diet. There are those and we think they are many too, who know what they are looking for when the curtain goes up at the bed time. They are looking for about four characters, standing in a semi-circle, an expert in athletic games, "My Old Kentucky Home," "Old Black Joe," a crowd of ventriloquist and a clown, and only at the first time. The matches can go on again by the hour the same old ones that have been used to one and we all go home with the idea that those of us who go down to our good morning that.

Then some of us wait till the school girl three or four years moved comes along, working in voice. She is long on readings or recitation we don't know high and when she has said a few pieces out of which is always the old "Vermont Farm" she is roundly cheered by those who think she did it fine. And there are lots of them who think she did it. Then a musical number may come long, one that has all the horns and brass brought over with a shot and a flute and a file and all please beyond description we musical folks.

Then the magician may come and we never fail to turn out. We also never fail to catch some of his tricks and give them away during his performance to our neighbors. And while we feel that he is a fake, we continue going to see him, year after year, like we do the circus.

The lecturer comes along, with his well used dress suit and a collection of pretty and sentimental language, and we who have deigned upon the stage or congress, go away feeling that we have been heavily fed.

Out of the dozens of ways of being amused at from 50 cents to $1 per amusement there are but few attractions that please over sixty per cent of us. Some come down that don't please over ten per cent. This is because we are all of different ideas, have our own ways of being amused and we can't help it. The attractions must necessarily vary in order to make the general average of attendance good.

Now last night when Ross Crane the cartoonist and clay modeler showed how it looked he gave him a big crowd as we always do. The crowd looked amused all the way through, and it was a crowd that behaved all and looked interested.

Crane is a good chalk artist and a talker and can do things to prove that make one feel that he is on it before. His punning was as good as his half work, and his work in clay is a revelation to the uninitiated. There are many different amusements for the many different temperaments.

There are many people who are made up their minds to stand on an office another year, but who are a long summer ahead to buy a new water and they are just by up low on it.
